Peter,

In reference to lot 22 Wilson Place, Wallace Vaughan and Will Bullock from our office visited this property and ran the pump to verify if the system was working properly. They did not note a malfunction. To your point, if the home has been vacant for a year, there is a possibility that no signs of a malfunction may be present. However, if the health department can not verify a malfunction, we do not write a repair permit. My suggestion would be the escrow account as we discussed previously. I hope this helps.
