Good Morning!

I received the request for the septic permit for 345 Thornwood Ln. It looks as though the property was established around 1992. I have searched every portal available to me with no success at locating the original septic permit. Our expired records only go back as far as 2005. Unless someone has applied for a repair permit since its initial installation, chances are that I am not going to have any luck locating it. If someone has applied for a repair permit, if you can find out the name of the person or company that may have applied, that will lead me in another direction. Sorry that I could not be of more assistance. Thank you.

Thank you so much Tanya for the information! My understanding is that it has not been repaired by the current homeowner, but we can let you know if we find out anything differently!

Thank you again,
