DESCRIPTION OF WORK

I arrived for an electric water heater that was leaking into the electronics components and in addition to creating a fire hazard, it was not providing hot water.

So I turned off a circuit breaker in the hallway, drain down the system and remove the old water heater. I then install the new water heater, and after making the water, drain, and electrical connections I filled with water. After bleeding it of air I turned on the circuit breaker panel and it started heating up water immediately. 50 psi. Thank you for choosing Michael and son.
